Upon receiving your application, you will be contacted by a SoundWaves at SeaWorld Entertainment Coordinator. The coordinator will discuss and set your performance date, time and performance venue. In addition, the coordinator will communicate the meeting location and time of arrival. We will select the area that best displays the talent of your group and best suits our daily show schedules.

It is imperative that you have all performers dressed and ready to perform.

There will be a covered pavilion in which to place instrument cases or personal items. We recommend you do not leave any wallets, purses, or any other expensive items (such as cameras and video cameras etc.) in pavilion unattended. The pavilion will be used to warm-up the group and as a changing area after your group has finished their performance.

Approximately 5-10 minutes before your performance, your group will be moved to the staging area. Once your group has entered the park and is in full view of our park guests it will be expected that everyone behave in a professional manner.

It is very important to remember once a performance time is scheduled the group must be on stage and ready to begin on time. This is to assure there will be no interference with the park's already scheduled shows. Remember, our park guests depend on our shows beginning and ending on time because of how they planned their day. If for any reason your group is unable to meet the expected show time, their performance could be cancelled.

After your group's performance, everyone must quickly and professionally exit to change out of their attire and prepare to enjoy the rest of their day at SeaWorld!
